SWOPE CAME TO DEATH FROM STRYCHNINE

By Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 19.—Strychnine in far greater quantities than usually administered in medicinal doses was found in the stomach and liver of Christmas Swope, and in the contents in the stomach of Margaret Swope, according to a special dispatch received from Chicago today. The information was given by an assistant in the Rush medical college laboratory. It was there that Drs. Haines, Hektoen and Vaughn had worked on the Swope mystery. None of the examinations are finished but the scientists have progressed far enough that they are convinced that neither Thomas nor Christian Swope would have died when they did had it not been for strychnine.

Taft Says He Has no Sympathy With the Women in the District of Columbia Who Want to Vote.

Approves of Erection of a Memorial Hall in Honor of George Washington in Address to Audience of Women.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—President Taft today addressed a large audience of young women at the George Washington memorial meeting and told them it was foolish for women to want to vote in the District of Columbia. The meeting was held to emphasize the project for building an immense memorial hall to be named after the "Father of His Country." Senators Lodge and Burton and Justice Harlan of the supreme court also made addresses.

The president endorsed the project and ventured the opinion that if private generosity would not be sufficient for its building, congress might be tried. Referring to the suffragettes the president said, "I know there are some who live in this city who think they, being free born American citizens, ought to have an opportunity to vote. I do not sympathize with them in this feeling at all. If they want to vote they ought to move over to Maryland, Cincinnati, or some other good place. They ought to understand that by living in Washington they are enjoying a privilege furnished them at the expense of the entire nation and that they are all living in the capital city which is under the care and control and direction of the people of the United States through their representatives in the house and that subservient body, the senate of the United States."

The premier has refused to retire, declaring that the forthcoming election shall decide the issue.

We are told that the Indian school was kept open and running during the cold weather for a double purpose, that of not only teaching them, but to give them warmth, as the little Indian children would come carrying their shoes and stockings in their hands, as they were in a too frozen condition to put them on. There has been a great deal of suffering among them. —Churchill Eagle.

Negro Deputies Who Fired Into Mob are Marked Men

Situation in Cairo is Acute and Hostilities Between Races May Reopen in Spite of the State Militia.

By Associated Press.
CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 19.—Statements by four negro deputy sheriffs today at the coroner's investigation of the killing of Alexander Halliday, that they fired several shots into the mob that were demanding admission to the jail Thursday night, renewed the anti-negro agitation, and the situation is acute tonight. Three hundred militiamen began patrolling the streets at dusk in anticipation of trouble. The town is practically under martial law.

The investigation adjourned until Monday night after sixteen witnesses had been examined. Six negroes who participated in the firing are said to be marked men now that their names have become public. Sheriff Nellis testified at the inquest that he used negroes because he could not find any regular deputies nor the Cairo militia company of officers nor any white men who would answer to his call for help.

Mrs. Rose Maloney, whose pocketbook was snatched by John Pratt, the negro the mob was after Thursday, had a second encounter with a negro today. She lost a diamond brooch and when she heard a negro had found it she went to his home. She recovered the jewelry but the man insisted that he did not intend to steal it. Drawing a revolver from her muff she placed it against his stomach and said: "You knew it was mine when you found it, didn't you. Say you did or I'll shoot." The negro then said he did recognize it.

LATEST FREAK

MINING STORY

The latest freak story to be sent out by the Twin Falls idiot who is doing the publicity work of the camp of Jarbidge says that the Bourne claims there is $72,000,000 in one dyke, "standing practically above the ground."

The Jarbidge boomers have made so many ridiculous claims that this latest one is not so very surprising. But it is surprising to see Salt Lake papers printing the story of the $72,000,000 above ground and giving publicity to other palpable tommyrot in regard to the new Eldorado. Jarbidge is undoubtedly a camp of great merit, but such stories as are being sent out from Twin Falls are not calculated to convince the public of anything except that they are written by a monumental liar. Next thing we may expect to hear that the snow banks at Jarbidge are being melted and run into bars of gold.

JEFFRIES, WITH DOOR LOCKED GOES THROUGH

Thursday's Reno Gazette says: James J. Jeffries, with his state-room door locked, passed through Reno this morning on belated No. 1. Although his itinerary was announced, he found very few people assembled at the depot and did not stir from his seat nor greet any of his former acquaintances.

The former champion took particular pains not to glance in the direction of a particular gambling house where he shot craps on credit, lost heavily, and then repudiated the debt. That act, which did more than anything else to discredit him in his career among sporting men, occurred the evening after he refereed the Hart-Root contest and then declined to hand the belt to the winner, Marvin Hart.

Prosecution in Ballinger-Pinchot Case Announces That Cross-Examination of Glavis Has Ended.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The case for the prosecution of the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry has practically closed. When the committee adjourned today until Friday, Brandeis stated there was yet some corroborative evidence yet to be produced and that Pinchot probably would want to make a statement before he could announce his case had ended.

Today's proceedings began with the unexpected announcement that the cross examination of Glavis had ended. Henry M. Hoyt, attorney general of Porto Rico, was called to the stand to corroborate that part of Glavis' testimony in which he told of seeking the advice of Hoyt at Washington in May, 1903, after First Assistant Secretary of the Interior Pierce had rendered an opinion which Glavis thought would permit the Cunningham claims in Alaska to go to patent. The only other phase in the case to which Hoyt was connected was the testimony that had to do with the Wilson coal land cases in which he had acted as special attorney for the United States. Glavis testified he had heard the name of Ballinger as attorney for some of the Wilson claimants, was left out of the court record by a stipulation by counsel. Hoyt said it was at a personal suggestion and without the knowledge of Ballinger that the stipulation was entered into. As a matter of fact, however, Ballinger's name did appear, fifteen or twenty times in the testimony given.

The remainder of the day was taken up with the introduction of documentary evidence, by Brandeis, who read such extracts as was considered to be of the interest of the committee. He also read a statement by H. H. Schwartz, chief of the field service, that it was at Ballinger's direction in January, 1903, that the Cunningham claims were ordered to be clear listed for patent. This order was withdrawn after Glavis was notified and had protested.

WEDEKIND MINE DEAL IS NOT YET CLOSED

The report that the Wedekind mine, a short distance northeast of this city, is to be sold to New York City capitalists, is somewhat premature. It is understood, however, that a deal is pending, and that parties are expected from the east in a few days to tie up to the property. At present it is held by a man who has a lien upon the top works. There is every reason to believe that the property will soon be reopened. It is partially flooded and is also badly caved, but there is said to be more ore in the old working than was ever taken out. The ore is difficult to determine without assaying, as it closely resembles the wall material. In fact, the country rock and ore are similar in color, texture and weight to one unaccustomed to handling it. —Reno Gazette.

ALL SAME RENO.

There is a scandal in the Shoshone four hundred. Several months ago Sally, one of the belles of the tribe, forsook her husband

The case, which is said to rival the divorce cases of rich New Yorkers in its sensational features, is being tried before the Indian court this afternoon. If reports are true Sallie's former husband will win his case. —Elko Independent.
